

Where do you think the story will be set?

What does the title tell you about the story?

What do you think the book will be about?

Who do you think the main characters in the story are?